

Senate Leaders See Appropriations Okay

Several Cuts Are Returned In This Form

Differences Between Versions Require Joint Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders predicted passage today of the biggest appropriations bill of the session—the $34,534,229,000 defense money measure.

Leaders said they expect passage in just the form the bill came from the senate appropriations committee.

That group put back into the bill $971,504,000 of the $2,565,275,000 in reductions voted by the House. Differences will be worked out in a conference.

President Eisenhower asked restoration of only about $1,200,000,000 of the House cuts. The administration regarded the remainder as largely bookkeeping transactions which would not affect spending in the year ahead.

One Democrat, Sen. Douglas of Illinois, urged the Senate to accept the House cuts. He announced he would offer an amendment to have the Senate take these reductions, but then add 500 million dollars to the measure for Army and Marine combat troops.

In yesterday's debate, Douglas charged the armed services with "fantastic" and "shocking" waste. He read from dozens of contracts which he said showed money was spent for swimming pools, diaper service, golf courses and other items he described as luxuries.

Sen. Chavez (D-NM), in reply to a question from Sen. Morse (D-Ore), said the fly-over of planes which the Air Force staged last Saturday for Gen. Nathan F. Twining cost $400,000 just for fuel. But Chavez defended it as a worthwhile training exercise.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo), former secretary of the Air Force and Senator Jackson (D-Wash) both urged the Senate to approve the Appropriations Committee restoration.

Jackson said Senators were deluded if they felt the money in the bill was all that was needed for defense. More will have to be voted in supplemental measures to pay "for the modern and balanced defense we need," he said.

Meanwhile, Eisenhower signed two other appropriations bills and an emergency measure to carry along temporarily all federal agencies whose money bills have not yet cleared Congress.

One of the appropriations bills gives the Interior Department and related agencies $456,899,600 for the fiscal year which began yesterday. This was $59,000,100 less than the President had asked.

No Garbage Pickup On July 4th Holiday

The Sanitation Department has announced that there will be no garbage pickup Thursday, Fourth of July.

Film Premiere, Too

Producer Arranges Party at $200,000

LONDON (AP)—Film producer Mike Todd is throwing a party for 1,700 people tonight which may set him back as much as $200,000.

Not that Elizabeth Taylor will have to trim her spending for hubby to take care of the bill. The festivities launch Mike's movie "Around the World in 80 Days" in Britain. If it wasn't spent on the premiere, the tax collector probably would get a good chunk of it.

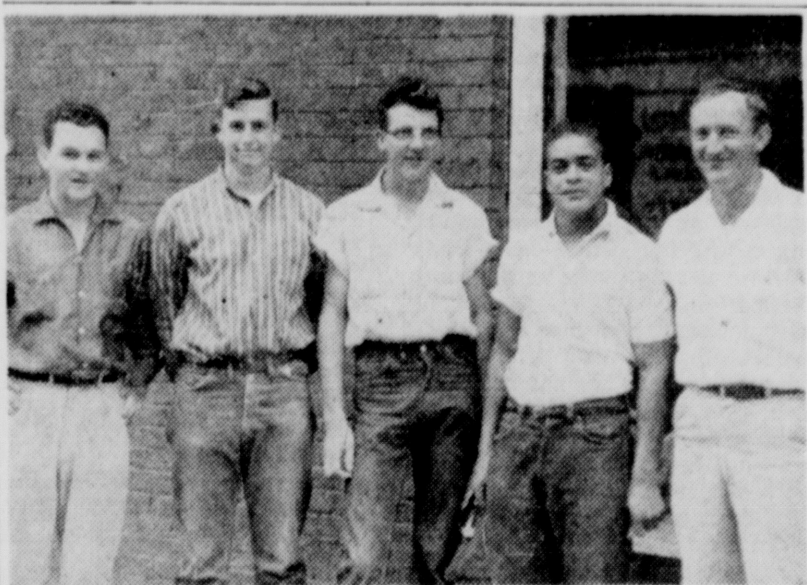

The big binge will begin with the film premiere — for charity — at the Astoria Theater. That will cost Todd 30,000 pounds—$84,000. After the show the guests will cross the Thames River on five bar-equipped steamboats and take over the Battersea Festival Gardens.

Everything is on Mike. He is even providing buckets of newly minted coins for his guests to feed into the slot machines.

He's bought 2,000 slickers in case it rains.

Todd wouldn't say how much the Battersea party would cost but newspaper estimates ranged up to $5,000,000 ($126,000).

"I'm an artist," the cigar-smoking impresario told a reporter. "I

Ike's Aide Tells Him Deaths Unnecessary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Val Peterson reported to President Eisenhower today that the Louisiana hurricane disaster was the worst he ever saw "in terms of brutal devastation and death."

Yet "few if any people needed to die down there," Peterson said.

The former Civil Defense administrator, whom Eisenhower sent to the scene as a personal representative, said the disaster emphasizes the need of installing warning devices and persuading people that they must seek refuge when the warning comes.

Talking with newsmen at the White House after his conference with Eisenhower, Peterson said the Civil Defense agency has been putting some money into development of an electric device to be plugged into home wall outlets. He said it resembles a sort of oversized double socket and can be set squawking by an impulse over the power lines.

That would be the signal to turn on radios to find out what the warning is about.

Final tests are in the offing now, Peterson said, and contracts have been let for that job. He said it is hoped the gadgets will cost $4 or $5.

Peterson flew back from Louisiana yesterday to make his report and to be sworn in this afternoon as ambassador to Denmark.

"This is the worst disaster I have ever seen," he said, "not in terms of property damage, because that was small in comparison with other disasters. "In terms of brutal devastation and death in what is normally a very peaceful and sparsely settled community, this storm had an impact that was just simply tremendous."

Peterson stuck to an estimate that the death total probably will be around 500. But he said it will be weeks or even months before all the bodies are found.

"I know on the basis of this experience," Peterson said, "that few if any people needed to die down there in Louisiana because the Weather Bureau did a superb job of discovering this storm, tracking it and predicting it."

Warnings were begun at noon Tuesday, he said, and the storm hit early Thursday morning.

Flooded Town Has Drinking Water Trouble

TESCOTT, Kan. (AP)—Some residents of this flooded north central Kansas town moved to higher ground today because of a drinking water shortage.

Water main pressure from the municipal well dropped during the night from what was believed to be a break in the line. The well itself is safe from high water.

"About half of our people have moved out," Mrs. W. C. Anderson, wife of the mayor, said. Tescott, with a population of about 450, is a farming community 27 miles northwest of Salina.

The Saline River still stood around 29½ feet today, but a slight drop was noticed. Flood stage is 25 feet. There were no overnight rains. Previous rains brought on the flooding yesterday.

"Every farm home on higher ground around here is keeping from 10 to 15 of our people," Mrs. Anderson said. "The National Guard moved them out in trucks, and Civil Defense volunteers operated boats where they were needed."

Those residents whose homes had drinking water hoped to stick the flood out, she said. Flood waters still rippled from two to three feet over the town, but there was no current and residents continued to wade about their business. Most of them moved their automobiles and other belongings to higher ground before the water rose.

From the air, the Saline River resembled a vast lake, stretching 20 miles from Lincoln, Kas., southeast past Culver to near Salina.

Starts Cross Country Hike at Age of 73

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—A 73-year-old man has reached here by foot from San Diego on a projected hike across the United States.

Patrick P. Thienes, a retired railroadman, said he will follow Route 66 to Tulsa and hopes to reach New York by Sept. 5.

He declared he can average 42 miles a day and "I'm good for plenty more walking miles." He left San Diego, his home, Saturday.

Maybe So

Did the explosion on the sun affect us Earthlings? One reports a wife drove him downtown to work today and, as he walked around the front of the car, ran into him. He escaped with a bruise. She told him it was an accident.

The temperature at 7 a.m. was 64, 80 at 1 p.m. and 82 at 2 p.m. Low Monday night was 61.

The temperature one year ago today, high 98, low 72; two years ago, high 93, low 72; and three years ago, high 98, low 72, with .11 inch of rain.

Fayette Policeman Killed in Collision

FAYETTE, Mo. (AP)—Mike Luther Landers, 76, a Fayette policeman, was killed in a head-on collision near the junction of Highways 5 and 240 here last night.

The Highway Patrol said Henry Thomas Johns, 32, of Boonville was driving on the wrong side of the road and struck Landers' police car head-on. Johns was taken to Lee hospital here with serious injuries.

Payment Try Made On Girards

Soldier, Japanese Fiancee Are Wed; 'Friend' Upsets Them

CAMP WHITTINGTON, Japan (AP)—William S. Girard and his Japanese fiancée were married today—and promptly found themselves the target of a shakedown attempt by a shopkeeper who had posed as their friend.

Fukuji Shimizu, 34, promoter of a "forgive Girard" campaign and identified by police as a paroled extortioner, demanded two million yen ($5,500) as "condolence money" for the family of the Japanese woman the 21-year-old GI is accused of killing Jan. 30.

The demand was lodged with the bride, Mrs. Haru (Candy) Girard, 27, less than three hours after she had filed at the U. S. Embassy in Tokyo the papers which made her Girard's wife under Japan's laws.

Looking forward to their real marriage Friday when they kneel at the white chapel in this U. S. Army base, Candy found Shimizu waiting for her when she returned from Tokyo to her home village.

Shaken and in tears, she told newsmen of the encounter:

"He told me 'The people of Somagahara are angry at you for marrying Girard. You must pay two million yen condolence money to Mr. Akikichi Sakai.'"

Sakai is the husband of the 46-year-old scrapmetal scavenger killed by an empty cartridge case fired from a grenade launcher on the U. S. firing range near Somagahara.

The weeping girl said she was in an embarrassing position because she felt indebted to Shimizu "for asking the Japanese to help my man." He announced two weeks ago that he was launching a drive for 100,000 Japanese signatures to a petition asking that Japanese authorities acquit or pardon the youth from Ottawa, Ill.

Informed of the police identification of Shimizu as a paroled extortioner, however, Candy cried angrily:

"Don't say that. I don't want to hear it. He has been kind to me."

Shimizu himself confirmed that he had asked for the payment. He told newsmen he had talked to 30 villagers about asking for the money, but said he had not talked directly to Sakai. The widower could not be reached for comment.

U. S. Army authorities at Camp Whittington offered Candy protection on the base. She will spend the night with Sgt. and Mrs. Gilbert Saylor of New Market, Va. Girard, who said earlier he would not consider himself married "until the church wedding," will remain in his barracks.

Dulles Believes Disarmament Possible Without Red China

Would Proceed, Assuming Red China Would Comply

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today a worldwide disarmament system can be worked out even though Communist China is barred from the basic treaty.

Dulles told a news conference a disarmament program could be based on the presupposition that Red China would cooperate, and that it would be in Russia's interest to try to assure such cooperation.

If Red China did not, he added, the fact would become known and other nations could act to protect themselves.

On another phase of world affairs, Dulles said the United States government believes that what he called Communist despotism in Russia will eventually give way to a rule of much greater freedom through a process of evolutionary change.

In a speech at San Francisco last Friday, Dulles had said that he considered Communist oppression, a "passing phase" in China. He had related this to be the problem of U. S. recognition of Red China, which he rejected as out of the question under present conditions.

On the same theme, Dulles said today he thought changes in Russia toward greater internal freedom would be evolutionary whereas in China there are more elements of a revolutionary nature. He said he would not put a time limit on his prediction toward either country, one year, or five years, or 10 years.

In response to a question, he said he certainly thought the desiccations of Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev would live under a system of freedom.

Khrushchev predicted a few weeks ago that President Eisenhower's grandchildren would live under communism in the United States.

Dulles divorced the internal policies of Russia and Red China from the recognition issue in discussing the matter today. The test for recognition, he said, is one of respectability in international conduct, not of internal policy.

Measurements of Red Chinese respectability, Dulles said, include such things as treatment of Americans—six U. S. citizens are still imprisoned there—adherence to international obligations, and the tendency of the government to live peacefully in the world.

Hoffa Lawyers Pick Flaws in Trial Story

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa's lawyer picked flaws today in details of the story told by the key government witness in Hoffa's bribery-conspiracy trial.

The attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, got the witness, John Cye Cheasty, to change his testimony on two points. But Cheasty insisted his memory on "material facts" was sharp.

Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union, and Hyman I. Fischbach, Miami attorney, are jointly accused of planting Cheasty as a "spy" on the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee staff. Cheasty says he secretly let authorities in on the plan and cooperated with them throughout. (MORE)

Recesses Until Friday

Council Will Receive Parking Lots Report

The City Council passed eight ordinances, heard nine for the first time, passed one resolution and heard a preliminary report on the recent traffic survey conducted in Sedalia at its regular meeting Monday night.

After hearing the traffic survey report the Council voted to recess until Friday evening, July 5, at 7:30 for the purpose of hearing a final report on the recent survey and introducing necessary legislation for acquiring property for parking lots through negotiation or condemnation.

A committee was appointed by the Mayor to take care of negotiations for property for parking facilities. Those appointed were Carlton Kelley, Woodrow Garrison, Harry Moore, Philip McLaughlin, Harry Naugel, Ernest Martin and E. H. McLaughlin.

The eight ordinances given final passage by the Council were: Rezoning of Lots 3 and 4, Pacific Heights Addition, from residential to commercial; paving with a hot mix asphalt mat coat Sue Lane from Albert Lane to Margaret and 400 feet east on Margaret; paving with a hot mix asphalt mat coat

Massachusetts, from the alley between Third and Fourth, south to Tenth; curb and guttering on West Fifth from Barrett to Beacon; creating Sewer District 137, Lateral 1; creating Sewer District 137, Lateral 2; and paving with a hot mix asphalt mat coat West Fifth from Barrett to Beacon.

Nine ordinances read for the first time and held for further consideration were: Amending ordinance No. 4293 which was passed by the Council on Dec. 6; providing for the construction of a district sewer, Lateral No. 3 in Sewer District No. 119; providing for the paving with hot mix asphalt of that part of Sunset Drive from Fifth to Broadway; providing for the paving and curbing with monolithic concrete that part of Quincy from Tenth to 16th; providing for the paving with hot mix asphalt of that part of the alley between Second and Third from Osage to Massachusetts; accepting the improvement and work by James W. Atkinson Construction on Sewer Lateral No. 1 in Sewer District

STRANGE, ISN'T IT?—This odd looking piece of machinery has been traveling throughout Sedalia the past two weeks and has posed a second look from many spectators. It's called a 'Giraffe' and is owned and operated by the Missouri Public Service Co. The Giraffe's primary use is for rapid and efficient tree-trimming at hard-to-reach places. It can, however, be used for other services. Hydraulically operated and very maneuverable, the Giraffe has a 360-degree turning area and is jointed in the middle, with two beams. It's span is graduated up to 36 feet high. It travels throughout different cities in Missouri performing such tree-trimming operations as it has in Sedalia. (Democrat-Capital photo)

NEA Changes On Teachers' Top Salaries

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Education Assn. Resolutions Committee, in a radical about-face, recommended today that the NEA abandon its stand for a minimum $10,000 - a - year salary for teachers with top experience.

Instead, the committee proposed the NEA call for a salary schedule that would double starting salaries in 10 years. It did not recommend dollars and cents salaries but said they should be high enough "that education may not have to suffer from undue competition . . . with other professional and industrial incomes."

The NEA Resolutions Committee position is in sharp contrast to that adopted yesterday by the largest NEA affiliate, the Department of Classroom Teachers.

The DCT approved a resolution calling for top minimum salaries of $11,500, an increase of $1,500 over what it approved last year.

The NEA proposal, to be voted on by delegates to its national convention Friday, says there should be no salary discrimination because of grade or subject taught, or because of "creed, race, sex, marital status or number of dependents."

Theater Centennial In Boonville Opens With Beauty Contest

BOONVILLE, Mo. (AP)—The centennial of the Thespian Theater, claimed to be the oldest in continuous service west of the Alleghenies, opened today.

A Centennial Belle contest was on today's program. Tomorrow there will be a parade and a premiere of the movie "Bernadine."

During the Civil War the theater was used as a military theater and a prison and quarters for troops.

The playhouse was converted to a motion picture theater in 1912. Boonville citizens preserved the building in 1936 when the owners planned to raze it.

Former President Truman was scheduled to speak on today's program, but he cancelled the engagement because of pressure of work.

North Central Part of State In Storm Area

KANSAS CITY (AP)—North central Missouri was included in a severe thunderstorms and tornado forecast issued today by the Weather Bureau for parts of several states.

The bureau said shortly before 10 a.m. that thunderstorms were moving southeastward into west and central Iowa.

"These thunderstorms," the forecast said, "are expected to be attended by large hail, damaging winds and a few tornadoes until 6 p.m. CST in an area in South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri bounded by a line from 30 miles west of Sioux Falls, S.D., to 70 miles east and northeast of Mason City, Iowa, to 60 miles north of Columbia, Mo., to 60 miles west of Omaha, Neb., to 30 miles west of Sioux Falls, S.D."

Scattered thundershowers were expected today and tonight in eastern Missouri and in the north-west portion tomorrow.

Warmer weather was forecast for this afternoon. Tomorrow's maximum temperatures were expected to be between 85 and 95.

Fog and low clouds covered southwest Missouri this morning.

Sheriff and Deputy Face Traffic Charges

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A sheriff and a deputy were haled into court here charged with violating traffic laws.

John W. Sheriff Jr. of Williamsport, Pa., was charged with driving on the left side of a highway.

Fred Henry Deputy of Asheville, was charged with permitting an unlicensed person to drive his car. Sheriff's case was continued to July 5. Deputy was fined.

AF Pilot Tells Of 54 Days In High Sierras

CASTLE AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Air Force Lt. David A. Steeves grinned through his eight-week beard today and told how he lived 54 days in the night-frozen High Sierra after parachuting from his plane May 9.

"I feel pretty good now," he said. "I had a lot of pain in my legs most of the time. I was just trying to live."

Three weeks ago the Air Force had reported him dead.

Down 30 or 60 pounds from his normal 195, the 23-year-old pilot from Trumbull, Conn., was brought here today from Sequoia-Kings Canyon National Park, where he had stumbled onto a pack party.

"I wasn't religious when I went in there, but it was faith in the Lord that brought me out," he said.

In Trumbull, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Steeves, said the family had never given up hope although the Air Force had sent them a death certificate and reported their son could not have survived in an area where there was still eight feet of snow.

"I put my faith and trust in God and He certainly did a good job of it," Mrs. Steeves said.

Steeves' wife Rita, also in Trumbull, exulted: "It's true! It's true! It's marvelously true! I don't know what to . . . It certainly is marvelous! I'm not making much sense, am I?"

Steeves' grim story began shortly after he left May 9 from Hamilton Air Force Base, near San Francisco, for Luke AFB, Ariz., en route to his home base at Craig AFB, Selma, Ala.

He said he never knew what happened to the T33 jet trainer he was flying solo.

"It just exploded," he told his mother over the telephone.

He said he was knocked out briefly and bailed out when he came to.

He landed at the 11,000-foot level, where there was still much ice and snow.

"I banged up both my ankles pretty bad," he said. "For about a day I couldn't move. Then I was able to crawl." He had his flight jacket to wear over his summer uniform, and wrapped himself in his parachute at night.

"I was cold without the chute. I was cold with it. I was cold the whole time I was there," he said. "It's a miracle I didn't get frostbite."

Steeves said he crawled, hobbled and slid about 12 miles in 15 days until he found a ranger's emergency log cabin tool shed at Simpson Meadows. He crossed an 11,000-foot pass regarded as almost impassable and then descended to the 6,000-foot level.

He said he had nothing to eat during those 15 days, "but I had no trouble with water."

He said he didn't have a survival kit, as first reported. And as for survival training: "I had very little — wasn't even a Boy Scout."

In the cabin he found canned hash and canned beans, and some sugar. After two days he tried to travel again, but spring thaws had swollen the Kings River and he was forced to turn back.

He lost all sense of time, he said, but found two rusty fish hooks on the ground and "on some days I was able to catch fish, baiting the hooks with grubs."

He found some garden snakes which he cooked and ate — but couldn't find any rattlesnakes, which he was hunting. They're larger and much meatier.

Last Sunday the water had gone down and he started out again, his ankles much improved. He encountered two pack-hikers, Albert Ade of Orange Grove and Dr. Charles Howard, a Fresno dentist.

Ade took him to Cedar Grove ranger camp, where he telephoned his family.

"Do you have any idea of all the prayers that went out for you?" his mother asked.

"Yes, I felt every one of them," After talking to his wife and his 14-month-old daughter Lisa, Steeves reported to the Air Force, which sent a car from Castle Air Force Base to bring him in for a physical checkup.

Eight Persons Killed In Two-Car Collision

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (AP)—A two-car collision killed eight persons late last night and left two others in serious condition.

Five of the dead were soldiers, apparently on leave.

They were identified as James L. Steen, 23, Pensacola, Fla.; Donnie Reason, about 25; Hubert Goessman, 22; William Brown, 21; and William Irwin, about 25, all believed to have been from Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Coroner Hugh Thomas said the soldiers' eastbound car "may have been on the wrong side of the road." He said an inquest probably will be held tomorrow.

The other dead passengers in the westbound car were identified as Conrad Miller, 21, of nearby Green River. His recent bride, Karen, 18, a telephone operator in that city; and Mrs. Barbara Whittlesey, about 19, also of Green River.

Forrest Whittlesey, her husband and a man as yet unidentified but believed to have been in the soldiers' car were rushed to Sweetwater Memorial Hospital here in serious condition.

Thinking Is Accredited To a Survival

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—A sturdy blonde woman who said she used positive thinking and the 23rd Psalm to keep her courage up was found yesterday after six days of struggling for survival in the burning jumble of rock and sand south of here.

"I got so hot I was frothing at the mouth," Mrs. Wilma White, 46, of Houston, Tex., said of part of her struggle through the Big Bend National Park of West Texas. "I kept repeating the 23rd Psalm: 'Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death . . .'"

"It made me feel a little cooler," she said.

She was spotted yesterday from the air and reached later by horsemen at the tiny cave and trickling spring which sheltered her from temperatures as high as 115 degrees.

Her husband had died in what appeared to be a vain attempt to find her after she set out for help when their station wagon bogged in the sand near the Rio Grande. They had gone into the rugged Punta de la Sierra range last Tuesday to gather cattle for their garden.

The tall, blue-eyed blonde was badly sunburned and scratched, but not in serious condition.

"I always felt someone would find me," she told relatives.

"You know, I am a believer in positive thinking . . . at a time like this you cannot lose your head and get frantic. When I saw I was in a fix I figured the best thing to do was stay with the water, and that's what I did."

She said she found the cave and tiny water hole the second day. She was lost and decided to stay until someone found her. She said she used rocks to keep her nails pared and combed her blonde hair by using the pool as a mirror.

She said she kept track of the days by placing rocks on a ledge. She ate only a few cactus berries during her ordeal, but said she didn't feel very hungry most of the time.

Yesterday morning was the first time she had heard any of the dozens of search planes which scoured the isolated area along the Mexican border.

"I heard the plane and took off my blouse and waved it," she said. Civil Air Patrol pilot Herbert Ogilvie, who said he flew into the dangerous canyon on impulse after deciding "a man could only die once," wagged his wings to let her know he had spotted her and flew back to arrange the rescue.

Mrs. Forrest Arnall, 2507 South Woodlawn, reported at 1:30 p. m. Monday that two motorists were driving in a very careless and reckless manner. They skidded onto her yard and almost turned over. She phoned later, in reference to this, that Charles Edward Lawson, 521 East 26th, and William Floyd Pugh, 605 North Stewart, were the ones drag racing. They were contacted and advised to go talk to Mrs. Arnall about getting her yard repaired at 3:30 p. m.

Three overtime parkers paid a $1 fine, and 35 paid the 25 cent fee.

Manes, 901 East 11th; Paul R. Engert, 240 South Quincy; Pete Robinson, of Smithton; Ralph W. Corson, San Francisco, Calif.; Carlton E. Brown, Sr., WAFB; Mary Beth Ashley, 1512 South Prospect; Roy Dillon, 1300 East Third; Charles R. Kilgore, 290 South Gentry, and U. S. Gentges, Inc., 530 East Fifth.

Rex Palmer, Afton, Okla., charged with speeding 45 miles per hour in a 30-mile zone, forfeited a $15 fine.

Ronald E. Adams, Houstonia, and Larry Fred Wahler, 1120 East Fourth, involved in an accident at Fourth and Lamine at 11:45 p. m. Monday, both pleaded innocent to charges of careless and reckless driving in court. They were dismissed. This was the 266th accident recorded for this year in Sedalia.

A-3c Clarence Yarbrough, Jr., WAFB, charged with being intoxicated and resisting arrest at 2:05 a. m. Monday, pleaded guilty and was fined $25.

A-2c Juan Cota, WAFB, charged with making loud and unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle at 2:40 a. m. Monday, pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

James Wyman Roark, 1310 East Fifth, charged with permitting a juvenile under 17 years of age to be out after midnight at 12:30 a. m. Monday, forfeited a $15 fine.

The case of Mason Morgan, 634 East Fifth, charged with careless and reckless driving, was dismissed in court.

Donald C. Finley appeared in court Tuesday morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of assault June 2 at about 1:46 a. m. He appeared with James Parrish.

A $25,000 damage suit naming William Beryl Hockaday, Ottaville, as defendant was filed in the office of the Cooper County circuit clerk at Booneville.

Plaintiff in the suit is Edith B. Hockaday, who is asking for $25,000 in the death of her 17-year-old son, Gregory Kent Hockaday, who was allegedly killed in an automobile accident on Dec. 15, 1956.

The suit charges that William B. Hockaday was driving a vehicle on Highway 135 2 of a mile south of the Cooper County line, when the vehicle overturned.

Anna Clifford Becomes Bride Of Don Sanders

Miss Anna Ruth Clifford, daughter of Mrs. Grace Clifford, Fortuna, became the bride of Donald Eugene Sanders, Clarksburg, June 22 at the Latham Christian Church. The Rev. Ivan Dameron performed the single ring ceremony at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Miss Norma Barnett played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Jewel Dix as she sang "Love Me" and "Because". The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Pat Clifford, wore a pale yellow nylon street length dress. Her fingertip veil was of nylon lace. She carried a white Bible topped with red roses.

Miss Mary Lee Clifford, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pale blue nylon dress and white carnation corsage.

Donald Lee Anderson served as best man.

The mother of the bride wore a printed Dacron dress and white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige dress with white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. A three tiered wedding cake centered the lace covered table. The wedding cake was baked by Mrs. Monroe Uptergrove, sister of the bride.

Mrs. John Pardoe, Mrs. John Singer, Mrs. Ralph Sanders, Mrs. Monroe Uptergrove, and Mrs. Ernest Walje served the cake and punch.

Mrs. Donald Anderson was in charge of the guest book.

The bride, a graduate of Tipton High School, is employed at Tipton Manufacturing Co.

Mr. Sanders graduated from Clarksburg High School, is employed by Twin City Co. They are residing in California.

Celebrate Birthdays With Family Dinner

Sunday, June 23, relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Twilling to celebrate the birthday anniversaries of George Twilling and Lula Mae Kennedy of Kansas City, niece of Mrs. Twilling. Both had birthdays on June 22.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chamberlain and family, Concordia; the Harry Eugene Pennington family from Higginsville; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts, Blue Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh DeWitt and Paul Allen, Kansas City; Anna and Geneva Roberts, Lula Mae Kennedy, Cecil Kennedy, all of Kansas City; Walter Dyer and Bill Kennedy, Higginsville; Linden Kennedy, Concordia; Mr. and Mrs. Leland Roberts and May Beile, Knob Noster; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hall and Mary Evelyn, Warrensburg; Mrs. Jerry Landi and Judy Kay and Mr. and Mrs. George Twilling, Sedalia.

A dinner to which all contributed was served.

The day was spent in conversation and taking pictures.

Mrs. Proctor Will Head Mothers Club

A luncheon meeting at the dining hall of the Tipton Baptist Church on June 13 closed the year's program for the Mothers Club. The hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Roscoe Collier, Mrs. Richard Conn, Mrs. Paul Miller, Mrs. V. E. Woolery, Mrs. D. C. Hardy and Mrs. Preston Hays.

Mrs. David Wittman, of Syracuse was a guest.

Mrs. E. R. Proctor presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Al Martin, reported the proceeds of the bake sale, $41.90, would be sent to Girl's Town, the state project for M.F.W.C. at Mountain Grove.

Officers for next year were elected: Mrs. E. R. Proctor, president; Mrs. C. F. Luebbert, first vice-president; Mrs. Tommy Veulemans, second vice-president; Mrs. Turner Woods, secretary and Mrs. Frank Gerbes, treasurer. Mrs. J. E. Roark installed the officers.

Girard Has Wed Japanese Girl; Papers Approved

CAMP WHITTINGTON, Japan —William S. Girard and his Japanese fiancée became man and wife today under the laws of Japan. She left Camp Whittington immediately after they signed the marriage papers, and they plan a religious ceremony Friday.

Signing of the documents legally united the 21-year-old Ottawa, Ill., soldier and Haru (Candy) Sueyama, 27. The papers were quickly registered at the U. S. Embassy in Tokyo, validating the marriage in the United States, and were deposited with the Akasaka ward office.

Candy, pert in a flowered yellow-tan dress with white shoes, white necklace and earrings, was brought to the camp to sign the papers. She smiled happily and waved at newsmen and photographers.

The 1st Cavalry Division approved the marriage of Girard, center of an international legal battle over the firing-range killing of a Japanese woman scrap metal scavenger last January.

Newsman and photographers were barred from the signing ceremony. Girard's legal adviser Maj. Stanley Levin said the soldier "wants no pictures taken, not even of his girl friend. He said she's already confused enough."

Happy Homemakers Meet at Perry Home

The June meeting of the Happy Homemakers was held at the home of Mrs. Perry Reed, LaMonte with 12 members present.

Mrs. Lena Little, president, presided over the meeting and Mrs. Workman demonstrated the making of beautiful flowers during the afternoon.

A contributive dinner was served at noon.

At the same time the women held their meeting Mr. Perry entertained their husbands, who sat out under the tulip tree and talked and also shared in the dinner. Since it was too wet to work in the fields the Perrys decided it was a good time for the men to get together, too.

Still Hunt Bodies

Mounting Misery Besets Workers in Hurricane Area

LAKE CHARLES, La. (P)—Mass removal and burial of hurricane dead from the ravaged Gulf Coast of Louisiana went on today. But mounting misery beset cleanup workers and slowed their progress.

The Red Cross reported of Cameron, the little fishing village that was the focal point of last Thursday's great storm: "It is well-nigh impossible for even the strongest of men to stay in the place, much less work."

A check showed 267 bodies brought out so far from the disaster area in the southwestern tip of the state. The first batch of unidentified dead were consigned late yesterday to mass graves, with a common headstone as their memorial.

The latest estimate of total dead from Hurricane Audrey's onslaught was 500. It was made by Val Peterson in a telephone report to President Eisenhower. Peterson, former head of the nation's civil defense, was sent here as the President's personal representative on the scene.

Damage to crops, buildings and livestock was incalculable. Some idea of its multimillion-dollar total came from oil editor Jeff Davis of the New Orleans Times-Picayune. He estimated damage to petroleum properties alone at 20 million dollars.

A big crane lifted 47 handmade pine coffins into part of a 150-foot trench at a Negro burial ground as mass burials got under way. A Roman Catholic priest consigned the white unidentified dead to a separate grave, pronouncing a eulogy in the French Patios of the region.

Health authorities called Cameron and neighboring villages uninhabitable for perhaps as long as three weeks.

"Health authorities simply do not want people in Cameron any more or any longer than absolutely necessary," the Red Cross reported. This applied not only to returning refugees but also to the cleanup squads still seeking bodies in the debris.

The Red Cross said it is withdrawing its own disaster crews at night, and encouraging the cleanup squads to follow suit.

Although the effort now was concentrated on removing the dead, the Red Cross revealed that as late as yesterday survivors still were being found afloat in receding flood waters.

Cameron, once a village of 3,000 persons, lacked fresh water, sewage facilities, means to refrigerate food, electricity and protection against multiplying hordes of mosquitoes.

Rats and poisonous snakes held sway in the wreckage.

Pestilence — typhoid, tetanus and malaria — was a lurking menace.

More than 40,000 doses of anti-typhoid vaccine already had been sent in the area and the Louisiana State Health Department was able to report: "No one has yet come down with typhoid."

Heads Up, On July 4

There won't be so many automobile accidents this Fourth of July because it falls on Thursday instead of a weekend. That's the opinion of safety statisticians.

There is something terribly grim about the fact that the National Safety Council can forecast with reasonable accuracy the number of people who will be killed on streets and highways on holiday weekends or when such days fall within the week.

When a holiday comes in the middle of a week there is less traffic. Most persons would rather have such holiday supplement the days off at weekend. Then they can go places.

Even so, some of the more venturesome will try to go places and back home over Thursday. There'll be hustle and bustle after a hard day's work to get going around 5 p.m. Wednesday, drive all night to a relative's home or a resort area, have fun all day, then in the car again for the long all night drive home in time to be on the job Friday morning.

The suggestion that some people actually try such a routine sounds silly; but they do. And the driver of the automobile — or the spell-driver — is hardly in a condition to function with alertness. Inattention, drowsiness can be fatal companions on that holiday trip.

Partly to blame for many drivers not keeping their minds on the business of driving, is their emotional frame of mind. University of Michigan traffic engineers in confidential interviews with drivers involved in accidents found that a substantial share frankly acknowledge they were upset one way or another at the time and not paying full attention. Their stories had a thousand variations but they all spelled worry or preoccupation with some personal or business problem — an operation, falling profits, a fight with the wife, and so on. Industry, incidentally, has found that the same emotional causes tend to make factory workers "accident prone."

So if you have a wandering mind induced by emotional disturbances you'd better be extra careful on that holiday trip with its added strain on physical stamina.

On the other hand if you are in the joyful mood of a social drinker do not start out or return with a feeling of over confidence either. The guy who thinks he is "master of his fate and captain of his soul" is usually just half tight.

It has been fairly well established that while both are a menace to the highways, the social drinker is apparently a bigger safety threat than the habitual drunk. The "drunk" is often protected by the symptoms of his condition. He either immobilizes himself or weaves his car on the road in such a manner other motorists are alerted to avoid him.

The social drinker, on the other hand, develops the superman complex. His physical and mental qualifications are seriously impaired and he thinks he is a better driver than Barney Oldfield.

If you are going on a trip Fourth of July, do not drink. There will be enough sober drivers accidentally killed without an assist from the social drinkers or drunks.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

HST on Listening End of Rib Session

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — Harry Truman, returning to his old haunts on Capitol Hill where he used to serve as a Senator, lunched in the office of Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas. Present was Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, onetime Republican.

During the luncheon, Johnson started kidding Morse.

"Wayne came down to Texas a couple of years ago," said the Senator from Texas, "and made a speech about me. He said, 'Texas is entitled to have at least two Senators in Washington. But it doesn't have any! Price Daniel,' said Wayne, 'represents the oil industry, and Lyndon Johnson represents only himself.'"

"And that speech, Mr. President," interrupted Morse, "cost me two heifers. I was about to sell Lyndon two English Red Devons. But after that speech I lost a customer."

"Last fall," continued the Senator from Texas banteringly, "when Wayne was up for re-election I offered to go out to Oregon to help him. I told him that I would make a speech for him or, if it would help him more, I'd make a speech against him."

There were chuckles from ex-president Truman and assembled guests. Senator Morse didn't say much.

"What would have happened," he asked, "if I hadn't been re-elected? You would not have been majority leader."

Despite the ribbing, or perhaps because of it, everyone had a good time — especially Truman.

The FBI Lobby
Lou Nichols, fast-talking, likable public relations lobbyist for J. Edgar Hoover, has been buttonholing Congressmen on Capitol Hill urging that they rush through a new law "to protect" FBI files.

As a result, Congress will probably jam through a law, despite the lateness of the session. Chief danger is that the law will go too far and be thrown out once again by the Supreme Court. For the Supreme Court's ruling was based on constitutional grounds which no Congress can change, regardless of J. Edgar Hoover or Congressman Francis Walter of the Un-American Activities Committee.

There has been so much Congressional screaming about protecting FBI files that it

Guest Editorial—

OKLAHOMA CITY OKLAHOMAN: Rougher On The Taxpayers. If the Eisenhower administration has been so rough on the farmers the taxpayers certainly should be feeling a little more comfortable by now.

Agriculture Secretary Benson's critics are forever accusing him of being parsimonious and flint-hearted toward the farmers. If this were true the taxpayers should be feeling some relief. But what has happened? Instead of costing about $3 billion a year as it did under the Truman regime the farm program now is costing the taxpayers about $5 billions a year.

The taxpayers now are supporting most of the farm outlays they had under Truman as well as some expensive new programs such as the soil bank, cattle restocking and even higher price propping costs.

At the same time it's apparent that the small farmers are not prospering greatly from all these governmental outlays. The program is playing into the hands of the big operators by putting a premium on mass production at guaranteed prices.

In view of all the political solicitude for the vanishing small farmer it's curious that no tight restrictions have been put on the amount of production that individual farmers may place under government loan. With a $10,000 a year limit on individual outgrowings from the Commodity Credit Corporation, the farm subsidy cost would rapidly shrink to reasonable dimensions.

A Proper Penalty

For reasons known perhaps best to the psychologists, the airlines have long been plagued with what they call the "no-show" problem.

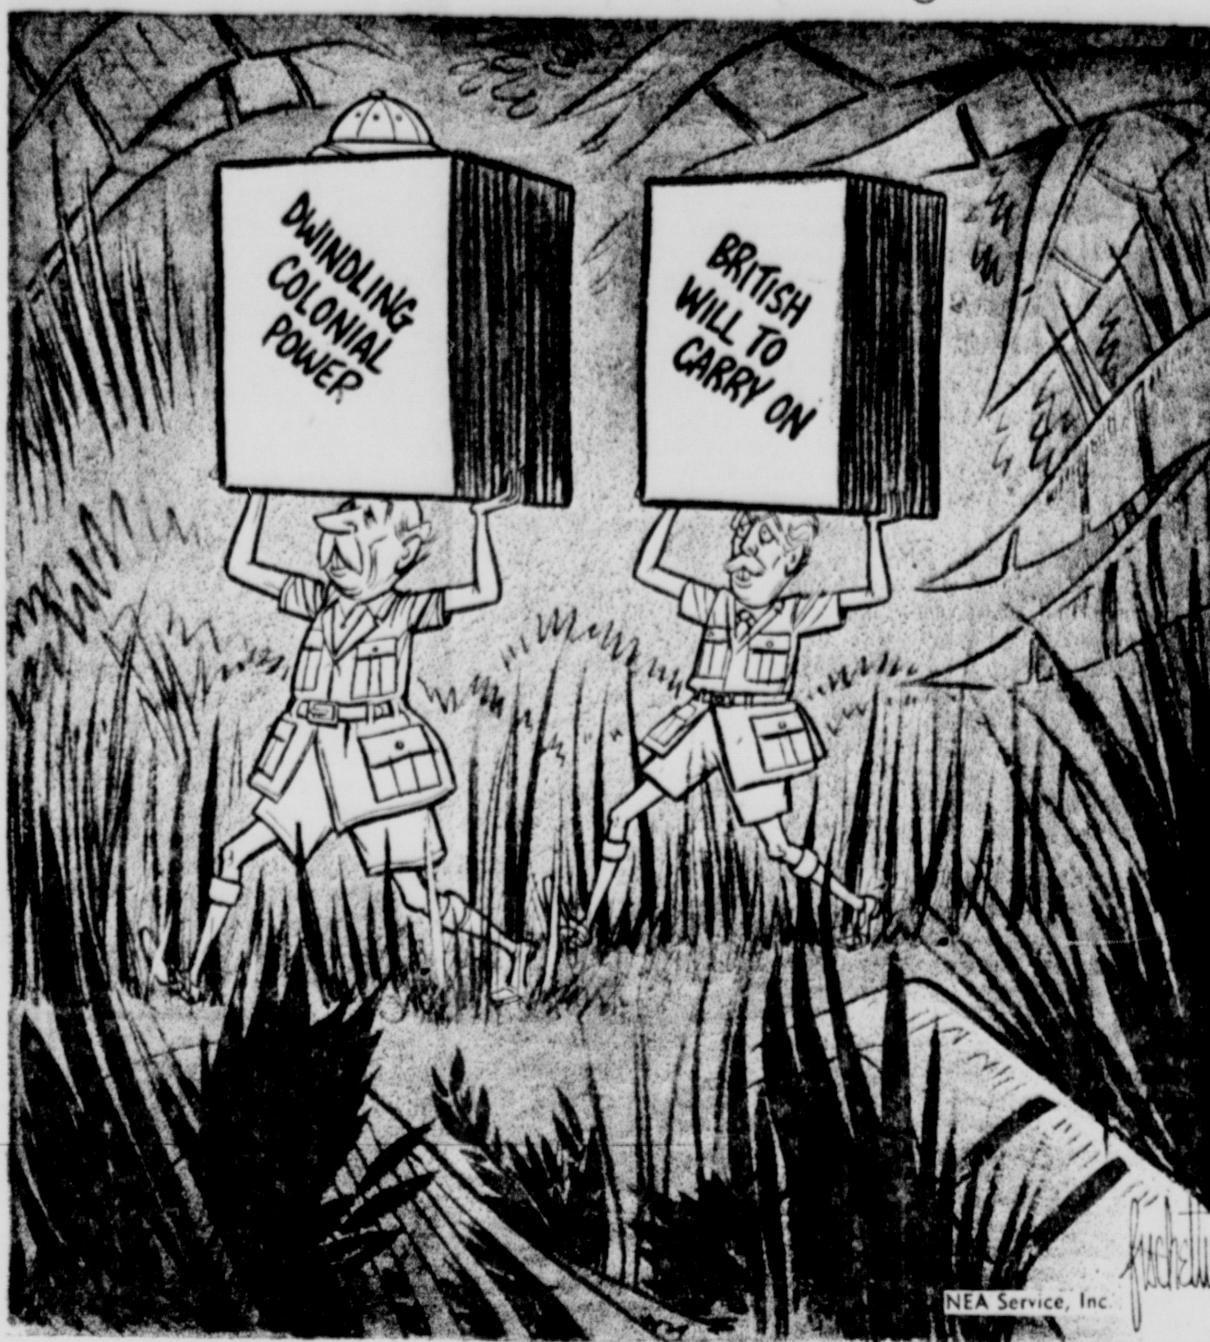

The difficulty is created by people who either buy tickets or make reservations for a flight and then never appear. Sometimes the airline can sell the unused space at the last minute, but many flights depart with the line unfairly deprived of a chance to get its maximum revenue.

Evidently many people reserve a lot of flights at different hours and sometimes on different carriers, determined to use the one reservation most suitable to their plans as they develop. Actually, this constitutes a kind of hoarding of space which is unfair both to the airlines and to other passengers who would like space but can't get it. Not everybody is willing to show up at an airport on the chance that he can get a seat left vacant by a "no-show."

The Civil Aeronautics Board now allows airlines to cancel reservations when they are not picked up in a specified time before departure. But this does not curb the ticketed passengers who fail to appear. So they are henceforth (as of Sept. 15) authorizing the lines to penalize any passenger $3 for failing to use his ticket and not notifying the carrier.

If that doesn't work, maybe the fine should be steeper.

Court Is Expected to Protect Decision

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's a good chance the Supreme Court—judging from what it has already said—will throw out any law Congress passes now to keep a defendant on trial from seeing FBI files pertaining to his case.

The court—ruling in the case of Clinton E. Jencks in June—said "justice requires no less" than that a defendant see the files if they contain information bearing on the testimony of a witness against him.

The FBI and the Justice Department were so upset by this decision that Congress is rushing through a bill to tone down the effect of what the court did.

But if this bill becomes law some future defendant—denied a look at the FBI files—is bound to test its validity by appealing to the Supreme Court. This is what happened:

Jencks, on trial for falsely swearing he was not a Communist was confronted by two government witnesses who were not only Communists but paid undercover agents of the FBI.

They said they had given the FBI information about Jencks verbally and in writing. Their written information was in the FBI files.

A defendant has a right to try to impeach the testimony of a witness against him by trying to show he lied or had a bad memory. One way to try in this case was to compare the witnesses' testimony with what they wrote to the FBI. It was traditional, but not a law, that a defendant himself couldn't see the FBI files. It was also traditional, but not a law, that he could ask the trial judge to look at them.

The reason: If the judge found anything in the files that might help the defendant, or discredit the witness, he could let that part of the FBI file become part of the evidence and therefore open to the defendant.

Jencks' lawyers asked the trial judge to do that. He refused. Jencks was found guilty and appealed to the Supreme Court. The court threw out his conviction. The ruling it gave is what upset the FBI and Justice Department.

The court said a defendant—not the judge—had a right to the first look at the FBI files. The court didn't say the defendant had a hunting license to roam at will through the files.

It said a defendant has a right to see FBI file information supplied by witnesses used against him when it touches on "the subject matter of their testimony at his trial."

The FBI wanted no part of that. And there was the possibility in the future that lower court judges, interpreting the Supreme Court's decision in varying ways, might give defendants wide latitude in searching the files.

To undo what the court did—and for the first time to say it in law instead of depending on tradition—Congress is considering a bill which says:

Any looking through FBI files will be done by the trial judge, not by the defendant. If the judge finds anything that will help the defendant, he can let the defendant see it.

If the government refuses to let the defendant see it — after the judge says he can — the judge can strike out all the testimony by the witness who supplied the secret information or declare a mistrial.

But the Supreme Court in the Jencks case clearly said — and it's hard to see how the court can reverse itself on this point — that:

"Because only the defense is adequately equipped to determine the effective use for the purpose of discrediting the government's witness and thereby furthering the accused's defense, the defense must initially be entitled to see them (reports in the FBI files) to determine what use may be made of them. Justice requires no less."

But suppose the government says that letting the defendant see the files would endanger the national welfare? In that event, the Supreme Court said, the government must drop its case against the defendant.

Flood Ravaged Town Takes Up Collection For Cameron Residents

PIKEVILLE, Ky. D.—This town ravaged by spring floods this year, is taking up a collection for storm-tossed Cameron, La. Townspeople hope to collect $2,700 by Saturday — about a dollar for each resident of Cameron.

More than $1,128,000 in relief funds from the Red Cross and Salvation Army plus tons of provisions was poured into Pikeville after its floods.

Where The Money Goes

Missouri Seventh In List Of Uncle Sam's Kickbacks

By Esther Van Wagoner Taft
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Harry Byrd, the Senate symbol of economy, now has a 618 page book packed with figures showing how much and for what federal money is given to the states and individuals.

Now the Virginia Democrat is itching for action by the Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures Committee which he chairs. The new report, however, is all fact-finding and minus any recommendations for reductions.

But, perhaps for the first time, it is revealed exactly what each state receives, exclusive of social security and other contributory programs.

Missouri, the 12th in population but the 11th in personal income, has enjoyed a total of $2,398,957,704 in grants-to-states and payments to individuals during 21 years from 1934 to 1955, in 1955 alone, the same kind of federal funds totalled $153,148,346 putting Missouri in 7th place on the list of states.

Most surprising is the number and variety of the direct aid to each state and individuals. For example just during 1956:

Department of Agriculture mailed checks to Missouri on 10 different programs, including experimental stations, extension work, conservation program, school lunch and school milk, removal of surplus, donations through Commodity Credit Corporation. Total $18,648,000.

Department of Commerce sent four checks with the largest ($33,293,672) of course, for highways not including forest roads and smaller amounts for federal airport programs.

Department of Defense paid out $5,886,580 for Army National Guard, $1,806,306 for the Air Force National Guard and $97,115 for lease of flood control lands, Army.

Department of Health, Education and Welfare actually paid out to Missouri on 31 different programs. The largest ($52,239,289) was for old age assistance. Next largest ($12,969,192) was for Aid to Dependent Children. Aid to the permanently and totally disabled accounted for $5,587,502. Smaller amounts were earmarked for the blind, cancer control, school construction, vocational education and rehabilitation, child health, crippled children, and other health services.

The Housing and Home Finance Agency supplied to the Missouri urban renewal and redevelopment fund $1,592,478 and $891,960 for veterans reuse housing. Smaller amounts for disaster relief and urban planning assistance.

Department of Interior spent $369,351 for wildlife restoration and $647 for migratory bird conservation.

Department of Labor spent $4,011,605 for unemployment compensation, $2,034,645 for unemployment compensation for veterans and $327,875 for unemployed federal workers.

Veterans Administration spent $21,276,667 on readjustment benefits and vocational rehabilitation. Small sums for homes for disabled soldiers and sailors, on the job training and automobiles for disabled veterans.

Civil Defense Administration paid $149,948 in emergency grants. National Science Foundation some $213,600 in research grants and $45,813 in fellowship awards.

Federal payments for grants-in-aid to states reached their peak of $3.5 billion in fiscal 1956.

Federal payments to individuals reached their peak of nearly $4 billion in 1948 at the height of the veterans readjustment programs.

In all three periods included — depression, war, and postwar — the largest expenditures were for highways, public assistance and public health.

This "Byrd Bible" shows that while payments to all states have risen steadily, the character and emphasis of the federal-state programs have remained relatively unchanged.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Friendship has been misused so much by human beings that distrust or hesitancy to help has become the order of the day. When one is in need of help, he finds his friends hiding behind all sorts of excuses and barriers. Nor is it entirely fair to blame our friends for not wanting to help us. So many folks have taken advantage of friendship that honest, sincere people must suffer because of those who have broken faith.

Jesus Himself was betrayed by Judas who was one of His own disciples. Even Peter hesitated to admit his association with the Master during His trial. We do not know what the other ten did, but no one stood by His side when He most needed friendship.

Two thousand years later we are still aloof from friendship if it involves a possible cost of money or a loss of prestige. We all want proof of high reward before we are willing to go the full way with Jesus or with our fellow men.

A Slight Mistake

OCEAN CITY, N.J. (AP)—Louis (Bus) Palmer, owner of an automobile agency here, is a satisfied man today.

In a business transaction with General Motors Inc., he was expecting a check for $3,500. When it arrived there was a slight error — it was made out for $3,500,000. He sent it back.

Savings, Loan Firm to Pay High Dividend

Assets of the Southwest's largest savings and loan association have approached the $200,000,000 mark, according to the 126th semi-annual financial statement of the Farm and Home Savings and Loan Association, released today.

Resources listed by the Association, which serves more than 30 of the major communities of Missouri and Texas, totalled $190,659,982. This represented an increase of $17,341,196 over the assets shown in the firm's statement at the beginning of 1957.

The Van Wagner Agency, Sedalia agents for Farm and Home, also announced today another record dividend distribution by the Association. More than 65,000 savings and investment account holders will receive $2,055,268 in dividends from Farm and Home this week.

The current dividend, representing earnings at the rate of 3½ per cent per year for the 6½ month period ending June 30, 1957, is the third consecutive distribution by Farm and Home to exceed $2,000,000; the ninth of more than $1,000,000. Since Farm and Home was founded in 1893, the Association has distributed $49,905,246 in dividends to its members.

Commenting on the new statement, Farm and Home President C. A. Duncan, Jr., said: "The gains of the past six months have enabled us to make considerable improvement in the Association's liquidity position. The firm's holdings in cash and government securities have increased by $13,208,689 since the first of the year—from $16,126,696 to $29,335,385."

Other comparisons between the new statement and the one issued at the beginning of the year:

Savings and investment accounts—up $15,927,569 from $156,127,498 to $172,055,067.

Reserves—$12,045,732, an increase of $592,517 during the past six months.

Loans—$153,105,684, an increase of $3,716,056 since the first of the year.

More than 73 per cent of Farm and Home's loans are either government-guaranteed (GI) or government-insured (FHA).

Besides the home office at Nevada, Mo., Farm and Home maintains branch offices in Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo.; Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio, Tex.; and agencies in 30 other cities in the two states.

Poultry Specialists At MU Say Fowl Pox Is Tricky Disease

Fowl pox is a tricky disease, say University of Missouri extension poultry specialists. It may hit a poultry flock one year and never show up again or it may strike several years in succession.

One thing is certain about the disease, when it strikes, it causes a heavy loss in egg production. Vaccination is the only sure method of prevention and, if properly done, the treatment will give lifetime immunity to the disease.

The ideal time to vaccinate the young pullet flock is when they are eight to ten weeks old, say the poultrymen. However, it can be done any time after pullets are eight weeks old up until they reach sexual maturity.

The feather follicle method of administering the fowl-pox vaccine is recommended. This method consists of plucking a few feathers from the thigh and brushing the follicles with a swab or brush dipped in the vaccine.

Yet to Devise A Life Saving Car Seat Belt

LOS ANGELES — A seat belt that would save lives in high-speed head-on automobile collisions is yet to be devised, an accident research engineer said today.

That was his conclusion after a spectacular test in which a strong new type of restraining device was tried out.

The Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering of the University of California staged a head-on collision of two automobiles traveling 50 miles an hour yesterday at Terminal Island, Los Angeles Harbor.

The seat belt test was one of a number of experiments carried out as the 1956 model sedans—one a Nash, the other a Pontiac—smashed into each other in a jangle of grinding metal and shattering glass. Each car was occupied by a dummy driver and a dummy backseat passenger.

Derwyn M. Severy, project engineer, said the seat belts used were made to withstand 16,000 pounds of pressure.

After a quick examination of the wrecked cars, Severy said: "There would have been no survivors in this accident."

"The restraining devices remained intact but the floor pan was unable to withstand the force."

"We still don't have an effective restraining device at this speed."

"We possibly could develop a device but people wouldn't wear it."

The dummy drivers were crushed by engines telescoped into the front of the passenger section. The passengers, although still encircled by their belts, were slammed around the interior as the anchoring sections of the frame gave way.

The cars were guided to their point of impact by a connection to a monorail.

MU Reports Excellent Yields From Vernal Alfalfa in Trials

Vernal alfalfa, a wilt-resistant, winter-hardy variety, has given excellent forage yields in Missouri trials, according to Emmett Pinnell, chairman of the University of Missouri field crops department.

Currently, alfalfa variety tests are being maintained at Lathrop, Weldon Springs, Columbia, Pierce City, and Sikeston. The Vernal variety has given good results to date at all locations.

Pinnell says recent increases in the national alfalfa acreage are due to availability of high-quality certified seed of new, hardy, disease-resistant varieties developed by plant breeders.

How Sight Works

Humans would become confused if they "saw" only with their eyes, because the image on the retina always is upside-down. The brain translates the images and conscious vision takes place in the mind, the eye merely recording light stimuli and setting off a pattern of nervous impulses.

All Manpower To Be Used On Holiday

All available manpower will be employed to enforce the state's traffic laws this Fourth of July holiday, Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, said today.

He said there is a need for strict enforcement because of the anticipated increase in traffic in the state. An increase in traffic during the holiday period creates a greater potential for accidents.

"Speeding and drinking are usually the biggest causes of holiday accidents. Too much speed is involved in seven out of ten fatal accidents while drinking is a factor in nearly half of the accidents," the colonel said.

He added that publicity about the hazards of holiday travel "may create in the driver an awareness of the danger he faces when driving on holidays, and where there is knowledge of danger, safety measures will increase."

Last year, for instance, there were 12 persons killed during the Fourth of July week. That was the lowest count for the month.

But in 1956, the fourth came on a Wednesday. This year it will be on a Thursday and many motorists will extend their week ends to four days, the patrol chief said.

This will increase the amount of travel and danger of accidents.

Victims of holiday accidents are usually the drivers. They usually die in rural areas between 6 and 9 p.m., during the early hours of the holiday.

"So far this year we are holding the line against traffic deaths. But that line is growing weak with about 70 persons already killed in June. A good Fourth of July holiday traffic record is necessary if we are to maintain a reduction in deaths this year."

Sedalian Heads Watchmakers' Group in State

Roy Conn, watchmaker at Reed and Sons Jewelers, was elected president of the Missouri Horological Association, at a meeting held Sunday at Jefferson City. The association is the science of watchmaking and was organized in this state about 15 years ago. Conn has been a member of the board for the past four years.

The convention began with a board meeting Saturday evening which Conn attended. The unanimous election to the office of president on Sunday came as a complete surprise to him. The meeting consisted of a business meeting, two outstanding speakers and a banquet.

The Scottish Rite orchestra of St. Louis, of which Oscar Yost is leader, and which was written up recently in Life Magazine, furnished the music for the banquet. The master of ceremonies in his talk stated he understood there was a new president and asked Mr. and Mrs. Conn to stand. The orchestra then played for Conn. "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and for Mrs. Conn, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Conn was born in Tipton and when a junior in high school was an office boy for a dentist there where he worked with the gold that was used for filling teeth. The dentist liked to have other things in addition to his dentistry; decided he wanted a jewelry store. He asked Conn about learning the watchmakers trade which he did serving as an apprentice for two years with a watchmaker in Tipton. He went in service in the Marines and when he returned went in the jewelry store as a watchmaker where he was employed until he came to Sedalia a number of years ago.

Ralph Walker Wins Tourney

Jack Wilt Is Second In Playoff

16-Year-Old Wins Over 20 In 'C' Flight

A record field of 100 golfers from all sections of Central Missouri pushed around the Country View course Sunday in the annual Sedalia Amateur tournament and produced a new champion, Ralph Walker of Sedalia.

Walker, a smooth-swinging 24, toured the rain-softened nine-hole layout three times for a one over par 36-36-37—109 to take the championship by two strokes. He became the youngest champion in the eight-year history of the tournament.

In a hot battle for second place in the championship flight, Jackson Wilt and Al Swihart ended in a deadlock at 111 and went six extra holes in a sudden death playoff before Wilt won the runnerup spot with a birdie. Wilt's rounds were 38-37-36—111 and Swihart's were 36-38-37—111.

Jim Weaver fired 35 and 38 on his last two laps after qualifying with a 40 to win by three strokes in "A" flight. Second place went to Jerry Turner with 40-38-38—116.

The "B" flight title was captured by Thurman Hall who added a 39-40 to his qualifying round 42 for 121. Charles Kitchell and Clyde Epps Sr. tied for runnerup a stroke back at 122.

Young Loy Holman, a promising 16-year-old golfer, was a surprise winner in "C" flight when he finished at a hot 39-39 pace to outclass 20 others in his flight, most of his opponents many years his senior. He had qualified earlier with a 46. Dick Hutchens was two strokes away in second place with 46-42-38—126.

Tops in "D" flight was Melvin Springer who sprang back from a qualifying 49 with 41-44 to gain the championship in that flight. Second was R. L. Kroeger with 48-43-46—137.

Trophies were awarded to the winner in each of the five classes while fine merchandise prizes went to other top finishers in each flight and to the medalists in the qualifying round, J. E. Ford and Dexter Slagle.

Other close finishers in their flights were:

Championship Flight — Johnny Simmons, Sedalia Country Club youth who went to the second round in this year's State Amateur and R. A. Rogers tied for third with 112; Norman Comfort, Sedalia Country Club, and Dexter Slagle tied with 113.

NACC Recommends Numbers on Helmets Of Football Players

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. —The National Assn. of Collegiate Commissioners urged yesterday that numerals two to three inches high be painted on the sides of football helmets.

The recommendation was one of six approved by 18 representatives of 11 major conferences in a two-day meeting that ended last night. The standardized, larger numerals are sought by press photographers as a means of better identification.

Eight Yanks On American All-Star Team

CHICAGO —Eight members of the New York Yankees yesterday were named to the 1957 American League All-Star team which will be directed by Yankee Manager Casey Stengel.

The American Leaguers, presenting an all-veteran starting lineup, meet the National League All-Stars at St. Louis next Tuesday.

Stengel, who named the team with the exception of the starting lineup, selected six Yankees in addition to catcher Yogi Berra and centerfielder Mickey Mantle who were selected in a public poll.

Detroit placed four players while Chicago, Cleveland and Baltimore had three each, Boston two and Kansas City and Washington one each.

Aside from Berra and Mantle, the starting lineup will find Vic

Wertz, Cleveland, at first base; Nellie Fox, Chicago, second base; George Kell, Baltimore, at third base; Harvey Kuenn, Detroit, shortstop; Ted Williams, Boston, left field, and Al Kaline, Detroit, right field.

Stengel, who also will select the starting pitcher, named three left-handers and four right-handers to his staff. They include southpaws Billy Pierce, Chicago; Bobby Shantz, New York; Don Mossi, Cleveland; and righthander Bob Grim, New York; Billy Loes, Baltimore; Early Wynn, Cleveland; and Jim Bunning, Detroit.

Elston Howard of New York, George Kell, Baltimore, third base; Billy Loes, Baltimore; and Gus Triandos of Baltimore were the reserve catchers selected by Stengel. Backing up the starting infield will be Joe De-

Maestri, Kansas City; Frank Malzone, Boston; and Gil McDougald, Bobby Richardson and Bill Skowron, all of New York.

Stengel's reserve outfielders will be Minnie Minoso of Chicago, Charley Maxwell, Detroit, and Roy Sievers, Washington.

Alex Kellner and Wally Burnette of Kansas City were named batting practice pitchers.

Frank Crosetti and Jim Turner of New York will be Stengel's coaches and the trainer will be Gus Mauch of New York.

CLEVELAND, Ohio —The only thing Sol Sherman could tell police about burglars who raided his store was that they probably drove away very slowly. Their loot included 1,440 eggs.

Plays British Course; Finds It Difficult

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland —It takes more brains to play golf in the British Isles than in the United States, Joe Carr, of Dublin, a veteran of the game on both sides of the Atlantic, said.

Golf over here is more changeable, more varied, while golf in the United States is very much the same every day on every course," he said.

"You have to know more different shots, understand different conditions and have the ability to change."

There was partial agreement from Cary Middlecoff, playing at St. Andrews in his first try at winning the British Open title to go along with the U.S. national titles he won in 1949 and 1956 and the Masters in 1955.

Middlecoff had just taken an extravagant 75 strokes yesterday over the par-71 St. Andrews New Course and much of his trouble came from unadaptability.

"At home you have a back-ground to line up an approach shot with," Middlecoff said. "Maybe it is a tree or just a bush. Here—oh no. It is flat. No avenue of trees or landmarks. You look away for a moment and then try to get lined up again."

"You have to find out all over again just where you are." Bernard Hunt got a 66 and two others 67s on the New Course yesterday but Norman Sutton's 68 was considered the best since he played the Old Course, considered about four strokes harder.

Sutton's score was three strokes better than that of Australia's Peter Thomson, seeking his fourth straight title.

Four players in the 10-man American delegation beat Middlecoff. Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, had a 71 on the New Course. Gene Andrews, former Public Links champion from Pacific Palisades, Calif., put together a 72 on the Old Course.

Twilight Golf League Starts This Evening

Some 25 to 30 golfers will begin competition this evening in the new twilight golf league at Country View Golf Course.

The program is being initiated with six teams with two and possibly more expected to fall in line within the next two weeks.

The league will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week at 5:30.

Teams opening play are sponsored by Russell Bros. Clothing, Garst's Drive-In, Phillips 66, Mullins Men's Wear, Bell Shoe Store and Knob Noster Lumber Co. with Meadow Gold and Pepsi Cola expected to enter soon.

Any other merchants who desire to sponsor a team for the league are requested to contact George Thomasetti at Country View, telephone 4269.

West Team Wins Ban Johnson All-Star Game

MOBERLY, Mo. —A two-run homer by Jerry Wolf of Tipton in the top of the 12th inning gave the Western division a 7-6 victory last night in the 9th annual central Missouri Ban Johnson all-star game.

Jim Harvey of Sedalia had singled with two out before Wolf connected.

The Eastern division scored a run in the last of the 12th on an error and Bob Arrandale's single, but the winning pitcher, Elroy Burton of Sedalia, struck out the next man to end the game.

Declaration of Independence Meet Might Have Been Like This

(EDITOR'S NOTE: That American institution, the Fourth of July speech, would be a great deal livelier if modern orators had some "inside" information on how the Declaration of Independence came into being. The following is designed to remedy that lucuna in American history. The report is completely fictitious — but it would have made great copy.)

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Five high government officials met secretly in a Philadelphia tavern the other night and reached a momentous decision which will influence the lives of us all for years to come.

Independence Hall will deny this but the five men formed a statement of colonial principles which, in effect, is a declaration of independence from England.

At that secret meeting were Thomas Jefferson, the radical; John Adams, the reactionary; elder statesman Benjamin Franklin; Roger Sherman, an egghead from Yale; and Robert Livingston, the Madison Avenue lawyer.

Although these public officials went to great pains to keep their meeting from the public, this columnist can now reveal what went on behind the scenes in that stuffy room.

"Are we all here?" asked Jefferson as the innkeeper placed five foaming flagons of ale on the table.

"All except George," said Adam

"Is he out of town again?" Sherman was disgusted. "He had to go to court today," explained Adams. "That cherry tree rap. He's still appealing it. He'll never learn."

"Experience keeps a dear school, yet fools will learn in no other," said Sherman.

Franklin began taking notes. "What are you doing?" Sherman inquired.

"Nothing," said Ben innocently. "So help me, Franklin," said Sherman, "if you lift another one of my sayings for your almanac, I'll . . . I'll . . ."

"Gentlemen, gentlemen," said Jefferson. "No arguments, please. Remember, we're here on serious business. We're here to write a declaration of independence for these colonies."

"Now, we've got a terrific beginning and a socko ending. All we need is a few lines to tie them together. Ideas, anyone?"

A side door opened and a man poked his head out.

"Another ale, please," he said. "Yes, Mr. Hancock," said the innkeeper.

"What are you doing in there, John?" asked Livingston.

"Practicing my signature," said Hancock. "You fellows better hurry up. I'm getting writers' cramp."

"Well, stay with it, John," said Livingston. "Only a few more lines to go."

"Yes," said Adams, "and we've got to get together on this."

"We must all hang together," else we shall all hang separately," said Sherman and everyone chuckled except Franklin, who was busy taking notes.

"What are you doing?" asked Sherman.

"Nothing," said Ben. "Now, look here, Franklin . . ."

"Knock it off," commanded Adams. "This is . . ."

"I've got it, I've got it," interrupted Jefferson, leaping to his feet. "Listen to this: 'Four score and seven years ago . . .'"

"Just a minute," said Adams. "What happened four score and seven years ago?"

"I don't know," said Jefferson. "I do," said Livingston. "That was the year George birdied the 18th hole at Burning Tree."

"What's that got to do with our declaration?" asked Adams.

"Nothing," said Jefferson. "I just thought I'd use it before somebody else did."

"The early bird catches the worm," said Sherman.

He looked at Franklin. "Nothing," said Ben.

The side door opened and Hancock looked out.

"Another ale, please," he said. "How's the signature coming?" asked Adams.

"A little wobbly," answered Hancock, "and the longer you guys take, the wobblier it gets. Thank you, innkeeper."

"We might as well have some more, too," said Jefferson.

"I think you've had enough," said the innkeeper.

"Enough? We're still standing. How about that fellow over there?"

Jefferson indicated a comrade who had fallen in the corner. "We demand equal rights with him."

"He's my brother-in-law," explained the innkeeper.

"Now just a dad-blamed minute," shouted Jefferson, rising in his wrath. "Just you listen here to me."

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal . . ."

Franklin began scribbling furiously on a sheet of foolscap.

"Get this," whispered Adams. "Write this down."

"What do you think I'm writing — phone numbers?" snarled Ben.

" . . . That they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and an occasional flagon . . ."

"We may have to edit this a bit," whispered Adams.

"Later, later," said Franklin impatiently.

" . . . That to secure these rights . . ."

"We predict it will be adopted," provided Congress can find the time in the midst of its fight over George's budget.

This columnist need not reveal any more. The entire declaration will be made public when it comes up for adoption by Congress next July 4.

We predict it will be adopted—provided Congress can find the time in the midst of its fight over George's budget.

Note to Milkman May Be Reason for Loss
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Leaving a note for the milkman may be the reason Dewey Cassidy is out $905.65. He told police that when he left for work he put $5.65 on the kitchen table and pinned this note to his backdoor:

"Milkman—you can get your money on the kitchen table."

Cassidy said when he got home he discovered the $5.65 was gone — along with $900 he had chanced under a bedroom rug.

To top it off, he said, "I forgot the milkman didn't even come today."

Attempt to Start Car Comes to Abrupt End After Mishap Series

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—"My car wouldn't start," Clarence L. Liles, 18, told police, "so I asked my mother-in-law to give me a push with her car."

"She agreed, and soon she was pushing me. Before long the rear axle on my car broke. I told my mother-in-law to keep on pushing. A block farther on, the left wheel fell off."

"I started down the street to use a telephone to call a tow truck. I wasn't very far down the street when my mother-in-law called to tell me a train was coming."

"Then I realized the front end of my car was on the railroad tracks. I started running to flag down the train."

"I waved at the engineer, but he just smiled and kept going." The engineer, W. J. Schroeder, told police he thought the boy was joking.

Ex-Prison Warden Dies

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP)—Court Smith, 81, former warden at both San Quentin and Folsom Prisons, died Sunday night.

He resigned as warden at San Quentin in 1940 after a career of nearly four decades. He was outspoken in his criticism of the gas chamber. All of California's legal executions are by gas, at San Quentin.

"Hanging is bad enough," he said, "but this — it's terrible."

Spot Report
SOUTHERN PINES, N.C. (AP)—The Moore County Grand Jury got its information first hand on a tour of the West Southern Pines Health Clinic.

Reporting back to Superior Court on the condition of the county-owned building, the jury said: "Porch floor in dangerous condition. In fact, one of the committee fell through."

Your Child's Health

Vaccination, Attitude Are Important in Polio

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
It is too soon to know just how much trouble polio will give us this year.

But there are two important things about it which everyone should know: the value of vaccination and the attitude one should take in the presence of possible symptoms of that disease.

The safety of the polio vaccine seems to be well established. Like other protective measures of a similar nature, vaccination does not guarantee that one cannot get polio. But the evidence is such that we feel sure it provides a considerable degree of protection.

Last year, for example, there was an outbreak of 1,111 cases of polio in Chicago. Of these, 835 developed the paralytic form of the disease. Two hundred eighty-five had received some Salk vaccine; 200 had had one inoculation only; 85 had received two. Not one victim had received the recommended full course of three correctly spaced doses of the vaccine.

Twenty-four of the 285 who received the vaccine did not get it until they were actually developing polio. It was also significant that in this epidemic 125,000 children had received the three inoculations by July 1, 1956, and none of this group developed paralytic polio.

There is no disease, perhaps, which strikes as much terror as polio. Parents should be on the alert but not give in to emotional fear.

The first signs of the disease may be similar to those of any other infection: headache, low fever, dizziness, irritability, or other vague symptoms.

It is true that many children who develop such signs do not have polio. But if suspicious signs do appear, it is safer to pop the youngster in bed until one is sure about it. Slight stiffness of the neck is quite common in polio. However, parents should not make an imaginative child too conscious of the importance of a stiff neck.

The parents' responsibility is merely to watch for suspicious signs, keep the child quiet if they develop, and leave it up to the physician to make the diagnosis.

Preventive inoculation is recommended. But it should be remembered that the disease has not disappeared from our midst. Although prompt action is indicated on suspicion of the disease, many escape without paralysis or recover to a remarkable degree.

Lemming Migrations
Scientists cannot fully explain the periodic suicide migrations of the lemmings in the Arctic, but they generally agree that when lemmings exhaust their food, they either starve on land or go out to sea to drown. A popular theory is that they are driven by some ancient instinct toward some mysterious land they once inhabited.

Rev. and Mrs. Sublett Into Parsonage

NELSON—Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Sublett, Seymour, moved to the Assembly of God parsonage Wednesday. They were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Campbell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Johnson sold their home to Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Newell, Blackwater, and are moving to the home of the late Mary Fletcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Clark, Kansas City, visited Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Younger and Pamela. Pamela accompanied them to Buffalo where she will spend two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harris.

Mrs. Clay McGraw, Marshall, and Mrs. Harry McGraw, Napton, visited Mrs. Rosa Mitchell Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Marvin Townsend and Sandra Lynn, Kansas City, are visiting Mrs. Mitchell.

Mrs. William Burge and Leona Lynn, Mrs. Albert Hogge and Will Eastham, Arrow Rock, visited in the L. M. Nelson home Friday.

Mrs. L. F. McClure and Will Orrison attended a birthday dinner Thursday in honor of Mary Ellen Sims.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Elgin and David, Independence, visited in the Fred Gohl home Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Snively, Sedalia, visited Mrs. Lucy Waddell Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Newton, Sedalia, and Mrs. George Arnold, Moberly, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Mitchell and children, Arrow Rock, spent Saturday with Mrs. Rosa Mitchell. The Christian Ladies Aid met Thursday with Mrs. Lee Engle. Sixteen members attended.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hinton, Kansas City, spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson and Miss Willie Orr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Hand and sons, Mrs. Chester Clisbee and Connie, St. Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Edwards, Mrs. Jenner Irwin, Marshall, and Mrs. J. W. Edwards visited Mrs. Ida Thomas Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Renno, Wellington, visited Mrs. C. G. Mayfield several days last week.

Mrs. Leonard Simmons and family, Kansas City, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Goodall spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Hutchison and family.

Mrs. Sally Leaton, Kansas City, and Miss Josephine Townsend visited Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Nelson Monday. Martha Sue Townsend is attending summer session at CMSC.

Rev. S. A. Yager, Postal, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Aldridge and Deway Davis.

Miss Alma Sheid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sheid and Ralph Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunt, were married Sunday afternoon at the Heath Creek Baptist Church. They are residing in Nelson.

Mrs. Beulah Cornine and son, Burnett Cornine, were badly shaken up when their pickup truck ran into a ditch on Highway 65 Sunday.

Mrs. Gretchen Caton and children spent the weekend with relatives here. Keith remained for a longer visit.

Drama Spreading
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—There has been a tremendous increase in the interest in religious drama, according to the Rev. A. Argyle Knight, director of the National Methodist Religious Drama Workshop.

"We receive, throughout the year, an average of at least one request a day for help in using religious drama in the Christian education program," the Rev. Knight said in announcing plans for the group's second annual meeting.

The workshop is for adults, including both professional and lay workers in the local church and at colleges.

Eli Whitney did not realize any great profits from his invention of the cotton gin.

The United States Army will celebrate its 182nd birthday on June 14, 1957.

Elwood Paynes Built Run-Down Farm Into Successful Dairy

By Oscar H. DeWolf

Taking what one has that is of no useable value or of limited value and converting it into very useable and adaptable purposes is exercising the wise use of what one has available.

Such is the thing that Elwood T. Payne, a disabled veteran, did on his farm located two miles north of Smithton.

The Elwood Paynes came to the local office of the Farmers Home Administration in the early fall of 1952 with the problem of inadequate facilities to carry on a farming operation within the limitations of Payne's military service disability. On the place was a 20 by 20 Missouri type poultry house of the 1930 vintage and a much "added-to" hewn-pole rafter and hand hewn log frame barn with a badly sagging roof.

As to land resources, the main crop fields had been operated "up and down" the slope by previous owners and who had "backed away" from three gullies that had formed and become "brushed in". It was a situation that had plenty of problems.

To start with, it was considered advisable to determine the type of farming operation in which the Paynes were most interested. This determination revealed that a dairy production program would be best suited to their desires and capabilities. This gave a basis from which to start planning. Could the present buildings, which were not useable for dairying, be remodeled into practical buildings for the desired purpose? It was decided this could be done.

The 20 by 20 poultry house could be raised by about two concrete blocks and an extension built on the back end to make a Grade A milking parlor the required length; the barn could have the sag taken out of the roof and the barn frame rebraced and add an open shed 12 feet wide for the full length of the "added to" old barn to make a practical loafing shed.

Estimates were made of this proposed building re-modeling and it was revealed a substantial saving could be made as against the cost of new buildings.

With the re-conditioning of the building without doing re-conditioning of the land to provide adequate feed for a dairy herd would hardly be practical. So, the establishment of a practical water-management and soil conservation system on the potential cropping land seemed to be essential. A careful study was made and plans were developed to build a water-way, build-dozed out the brush along the gullies and fill them in by back-filling with soil and level up. Cash estimates were made of the likely cost of this soil and land development work.

A farm development loan with the Farmers Home Administration was set up to provide funds to accomplish these planned developments and improvements as seemed necessary and the actual development was started in the spring of 1953.

To date all the planned improvements and developments have been completed. The Grade A dairy has been in successful operation for about three years; the cropping fields have been terraced and given a full soil treatment in accordance with soil tests; ten acres of alfalfa has been supplying hay for the dairy herd of 26 cows; one-half the cropping land supplies the needed silage and in the off-year the other one-half produces an oat crop along with sweet clover used as a supplement pasture and a green manure crop ahead of the silage crop. Two crops of sweet clover has been turned under to date in building up the organic matter content of the soil.

That which began with what appeared to be almost insurmountable problems has been successfully solved with a family that had determination to do the things it wanted and was capable of doing, along with an adequate financing program that enabled them to accomplish their desired purpose.

OWEN FOX

Pettis County Assoc. Agent

4-H Council to Meet

The Pettis County 4-H Council will meet Tuesday night, July 2, at the Assembly room of the Court House at 8:00 p.m.

Mrs. Cloyce Wilson will report on the 4-H Leaders Camp Conference. Joyce Stephens and Donald Welliver, will give you a report on State 4-H Junior Leadership Camp, and Delta Reine and Dean Raines will report on State 4-H Club Week. Mrs. Jack Alfrey will give you a report of the committee who has made plans for the Chamber of Commerce Open House. A demonstration will be given by Karl Kasak of the Maplewood 4-H Club. Other events mentioned will be Judging Day, Achievement Day, Livestock Show and 4-H Camp.

I recently attended a two day Agents Conference in which I received information concerning Missouri's "Big Move" in 4-H. It is very important that someone from each Club be there to receive this information.

4-H Judging Day

The County 4-H Judging Day will be held July 9 at the East Sedalia Baptist Church located at 1019 East Fifth St.

Any boy or girl enrolled in 4-H may participate in the County 4-H judging event as long as they are enrolled in the project in which they are judging.

Ribbons will be awarded for judging according to the Danish system. The ribbons will be given out at the County 4-H Achievement Day. The 4-H members judging are to bring a pencil; also something to take notes on if you want to make some notes while judging.

Youths Make Trip to National Scout Jamboree

Five youths from this area will join 35 others from the Lake of the Ozarks Boy Scout Council in Jefferson City on July 5 to start their trip to the National Boy Scout Jamboree. The group will join others at St. Louis to make up a full train that will go to Valley Forge, Pa., for the Boy Scout event.

Their trip will take them to Canada then to New York. The Pennsylvania Railroad, Canadian government, the Niagara Falls Association and the New York Life Insurance Co. have planned special sight-seeing tours for the boys. On the return trip they will go through Washington, D. C.

Boys from this area who are making the trip and their scoutmasters are Lanny Houk of Troop 65, scoutmaster, Keith Eckstrom; Waymon Hofheim, Troop 52, scoutmaster, Charlie Hofheim; Bill Kriesel, Troop 69, scoutmaster, Kenneth Schriener; Art James, Troop 66, scoutmaster Joe Wright; and Petie Siegel, Troop 153 of Smithton.

They will return here on July 21. Escorting the boys will be C. A. Phillips, Sedalia; Eddie Ford, Eldon, and George Huckstep, Jefferson City.

why Ancient Age can say:

"IF YOU CAN FIND A BETTER BOURBON ...BUY IT!"

All we distill is Kentucky straight bourbon.

We know that bourbon of the finest quality requires choice grains. That's all we use. We know it calls for the greatest skill in distilling. The men who guide the making of Ancient Age are the most experienced in the industry. And it takes lots of time. That's why we wait six full years for careful aging to bring the quality ingredients to their peak of maturity.

And to safeguard the uniform quality of Ancient Age, we distill it at one place only... at the Ancient Age distillery in Frankfort, Kentucky... the heart of the bourbon country.

Nothing has been spared to make Ancient Age the greatest bourbon of them all. We invite you to try it tonight. After one taste, you'll understand why we can make the challenge: "If you can find a better bourbon... buy it!"
